JSfirm.com Partners with Liberty University School of Aeronautics

Roanoke, Texas (October 14, 2025) - JSfirm.com is pleased to announce a new Job Distribution Partnership with Liberty University School of Aeronautics, one of the nation's leading aviation programs.

For years, Liberty University School of Aeronautics has equipped future aviation professionals with the skills and training needed for success in flight operations, maintenance, unmanned aerial systems, and aviation administration. Through this partnership, Liberty University students and alumni will now gain increased visibility into thousands of aviation job openings, all of which are accessible directly from their website.

"Partnering with Liberty University School of Aeronautics allows us further to strengthen the bridge between aviation education and employment," said Abbey Hutter, Executive Director of JSfirm.com. "Liberty University has an exceptional reputation for producing highly qualified aviation professionals, and we're proud to partner with Liberty, allowing their students and alumni to search for aviation jobs worldwide directly from Liberty's website."

"Liberty University's School of Aeronautics is proud to partner with JSfirm.com to expand career opportunities for our students and alumni," said Dr. Steven Brinly, Dean of the Liberty University School of Aeronautics. "This collaboration reflects our shared commitment to excellence in aviation and our mission to equip, mentor, and send Champions for Christ into the aerospace community. This exciting new tool provides students and alumni with convenient access to the most relevant career opportunities."
